OUTLINES.

The speech of W. J. Bryan and a letter from J. J. Hill, were the features of the second days' session of the convention of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways Association, in Chicago. At the night session John Temple Graves, of New York and Georgia, made the principal address——W. J. Bryan assailed President Roosevelt in a political address, yesterday at Evanston, Ill., for his interference in the campaign, saying that the President's actions "violated a sense of justice that can be found in every human heart." Mr. Bryan leaves today for a speaking tour through Illinois and Missouri——Henry Watterson, the Kentucky editor, was the principal speaker at a Democratic rally in Louisville last night. This was his first political speech since 1892——The country will be divided into eleven district of National bank examiners with a chairman for each district——Kern replies to the charges Hearst made against him in his Los Angeles speech——For the next three weeks the Federation of Labor will make vigorous effort to defeat the re-election of Speaker Cannon——The army board convened to pass on Colonel Stewart's retirement refuse to have any witnesses testify in the case beyond the medical men of the board except one doctor who had examined him the day before and also to receive any outside testimony——Austria opens negotiations with the powers for Bulgaria's independence and states her attitude in the present condition of affairs——New York Markets: Money on call easy 1 to 1 1-2 per cent., closing bid 1, offered 1 1-4, time loans dull but slightly firmer. Spot cotton closed quiet 10 points decline, middling uplands 9.05, middling gulf 9.30. Flour quiet but firm. Wheat spot strong, No. 2 red 1.07 7-8 to 1.08 7-8 elevator. Corn firm, No. 2 84 1-2 nominal elevator. Oats steady, mixed 52 to 53. Rosin quiet. Turpentine quiet 38 1-2.

Candidate Kern's speeches in this State will help swell the Democratic majority.

Both sides are sure of victory, but they are working harder each day to secure it.

We suppose the Greensboro Peace Congress will adopt resolutions on the situation in the "near East."

Roosevelt seems much more concerned about the characters of the Democratic than the Republican campaign managers.

What will Germany do? is the all absorbing question with the other European powers regarding the situation in the "near East.

The Dutch have decided not to be made a cat'spaw of in the Venezuelan affair. Now Roosevelt will be denouncing the Dutch.

The State newspaper, of Columbia, S. C., gives its figures by States on the Presidential election. They are 226 for Taft and 257 for Bryan. "So mote it be."

If the news from Athens be true the usual mode of conducting war in southeastern Europe has begun in the assassination of Prince Constantine of Greece.

The public speakers seem to be giving up vituperation. No one has called another a liar since Debs applied that epithet to Gompers nearly a week ago.

What's Foraker got to say about that Georgia negro announcing at a Republican meeting in New York that he believed negroes were responsible for the Brownsville shooting.

Should Taft be elected Roosevelt will probably change his mind about spending several months in the jungles of Africa where he could not communicate with the White House.

It is a pity Bulgaria did not put off her affair with Turkey until next Spring. Then she could have secured the services of Colonel Roosevelt to command her Rough Rider forces.

It looks like the Republican leaders are waiting to see whether Cannon can get a renomination and election before deciding whether to kick him out of the party or to whitewash him.

When Treasurer Sheldon, with his hold on a dozen or more trusts, says money is coming slowly into the Republican campaign treasury the people understand why that party's leaders are opposed to campaign fund publicity.

The Mobile Register says "the political prophets in New York figure that Taft for President and Chanler for Governor will carry the Empire State." We do not like such talk. It smacks too much of Democrats swapping Bryan for Chanler.

IN SUPERIOR COURT

Extended Argument by Attorneys Yesterday in Oldham Damage Suit Against Railroad.

REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT

Matter Taken Under Advisement by Judge Lyon—Only One Unimportant Case Disposed of Yesterday—Calendar for Today.

The only proceeding of general interest in the Superior Court yesterday was argument by the attorneys of the motion lodged the day before by the defendant to remove the big damage suit of N. M. McEachern, administrator, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, to the Federal Court.

The argument lasted for two hours and was participated in by Messrs. Junius Davis, George Rountree and John D. Bellamy, for the railroad company, and Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy and Herbert McClammy for the plaintiff. Judge Lyon made note of a number of authorities cited by the attorneys for both sides and took the matter under advisement for an opinion later in the term.

The case is one in which the plaintiff as administrator of the estate of the late Thos. B. Oldham is suing the railroad company for $20,000 for the killing of the plaintiff's intestate some months ago at the Castle Hayne road crossing near this city. The motion to remove to the Federal Court is on the ground that the defendant is a foreign corporation, being chartered under the laws of the State of Virginia, and the amount asked for is over $2,000, which is the limit of the State's jurisdiction in cases involving foreign corporations. The plaintiff's attorneys argued that while the Atlantic Coast Line is a foreign corporation, the present company, the old Wilmington & Weldon railroad, is a North Carolina corporation and its charter has never been dissolved; that it is merely a consolidation with the Coast Line and this brings the case within the province of the State courts regardless of the amount asked. The defense claimed that the consolidation was a merger of the properties, the A. C. L. absorbing the other system, a case being now pending in the Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond on this very question of consolidation and merger.

Aside from the argument upon the motion, only one other case of interest was tried yesterday, that of the Wilmington Furniture Co., against W. T. Mercer and E. S. Hancock, only a small amount of money being involved. The jury took the case about 1 o'clock and having announced at 3 o'clock that there was no possibility of an agreement, a mistrial was ordered.

Judgment for $245 was given in the case of J. A. Taylor against C. S. Garrell. An appeal to the Supreme Court was taken by Hon. John D. Bellamy, counsel for the defendant.

A non-suit was entered in the case of Frank Herbst against Alice M. Nobles. No cases of interest are set for today and only a short session of the court is expected. The next case of interest on the docket will be the damage suit of Capt. J. A. Burriss against the City of Wilmington, which will be heard on Monday.

CAMPAIGN IN BLADEN

Hon. H. L. Godwin Speaks to Crowds at Bladenboro and Abbottsburg.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 8.—Hon. H. L. Godwin, Democratic nominee for Congress, spoke to a gathering of farmers at Bladenboro yesterday with the county candidates of Bladen, among the number being Treasurer W. S. Clark, Sheriff Marvin Clark and Representative Perry. The meeting was a good one and reports were received that the Democrats would make gains in Bladen this year. This morning Mr. Godwin spoke at Abbottsburg, Bladen county.

BIG ATTRACTIONS SIGNED

Two Combined Circuses and Menageries to Supplement Local Features of Big Elksfest Here First Week in November.

Arrangements have just been made by the executive committee of the Elksfest, to be held here November 2nd to 7th, to lease the entire paraphernalia, tents, acts, etc. of two of the largest shows now touring in the South. One show is known as The Great King & Tucker Railway Shows, now in this immediate territory, and the other is the Jones & Little Combined Shows. They will travel here in two trains on or about November 1st and will remain until after the Elks Society Circus has been given.

The object in securing these shows was not to present them as a feature of the week, but to enable the management of the Elks' Circus to provide tents and seats for their own big show which will be greater and better than any professional circus culd possibly be. The tents that will be pitched on Elksplatz, Fourth and Castle streets, November 4th and 5th, will be as follows: One main tent, 80x180 feet, one menagerie and freak tent annex, size, 60x120 feet, one side show or "Kid" show tent, 40x50 feet, one dressing tent, 30x40 feet, one stable tent, 20x30 feet, and a cook tent, together with several privilege canopies and small tents.

The committee also secures two real live elephants, one lion, one camel, one trained bear, ten head of ponies and horses, a cage of monkeys, a cage of real live snakes, a cage of birds and some small animals.

Coming with these shows will be a twelve piece circus band in uniform, ten clowns in costumes, eight big circus acts including one big aerial act, two trapeze acts, trained pony act, trained elephant act, eight acrobats and tumblers for the leaps, complete set of lights, same as Cole Bros., and much ring properties and stuff that will save the Elks here lots of money. The matter of putting up the big tents and of seats will now be satisfactorily solved, as both shows will send here a band of canvasmen and seat men. Rehearsals will be had in the big tent November 2nd.

In addition to this fine booking Manager Buckley obtained three big special riding acts from the Cole show, neither having been seen here. The Costellos were here on a visit and Manager Downs introduced them to Mr. Buckley, who at once secured them and their four head of stock, for the Elks' Circus week. They do a double jockey act, a principal act and a carrying act on two horses. It is counted as one of the best acts in the show business. Mr. Costello will also lend his horses to Messrs. Wells and Hall for their premier burlesque riding act.

Daily it becomes more evident to all concerned that the big Elksfest week is to surpass all expectations. The advertising committee has put in a number of days lately devising and carrying out a plan of publicity that will result in many hundreds of people from nearby cities and towns visiting Wilmington during that week. The billing is going out now and the public will be assured of a fine attendance.

The most important matter now is for all to take a deep interest in the play ground parade which takes place Tuesday, November 3rd, and is open to all people. The ladies should interest themselves in the decorated carriage section, and in the decorated baby coach and go-cart division of that parade. The committee will also try and get the public schools to take an active part and to send out many scores of marching children. Prizes will be given in all lines.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

First Meeting for Fall Term Held Last Evening—Interesting Addresses From Delegates to Recent Tuberculosis Congress.

An interesting and most enthusiastic meeting of the New Hanover Medical Society, the first for the Fall and Winter season, was held last evening in Room No. 8, Masonic Temple. The officers elected at the last meeting in March were duly installed and interesting reports were heard from the delegates who attended the recent great Tuberculosis Congress in Washington, D. C.

The officers installed are Dr. E. J. Wood, president; Dr. T. M. Green, secretary, and Drs. W. D. MacMillan, R. B. Slocum and R. H. Bellamy, constituting the Board of Censors. The outlook for the Society during the season is very good indeed. A very interesting talk by Dr. Charles T. Harper, giving some of his observations at the recent Tuberculosis Congress on "Municipal Control," was heard with pleasure by the large number present. Dr. John C. Wessell, also a delegate to the Congress, most interestingly discussed "Pathology and Bacteriology of Tuberculosis" while Dr. Thomas B. Carroll, veterinary surgeon, treated with much interest and edification of the Society, "Tuberculosis in Domestic Animals." Dr. Carroll also took up with the Society certain evasions of the tuberculin test for cattle with the result that it will be recommended to the Board of Aldermen that an ordinance be passed providing for a gross test of some of the meats being offered for sale at the city markets.

Among the members persent last night at the meeting were Drs. Akerman, Bulluck, R. H. Bellamy, Nesbitt, Koonce, Harper, Hall, Slocum, Bolles, Harriss, Cranmer, Schonwald, Wessell, Green, Wood and Carroll.

FINANCES OF COUNTY

Auditing Committee of Board of Commissioners in Regular Monthly Session.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT

Receipts and Disbursements During September—Certified Auditing of Public Accounts Will be Made. Good Roads Congress.

The Board of County Commissioners, sitting as an auditing committee, was in session yesterday afternoon, members present having been Chairman McEachern and Messrs. Vollers, Robertson, Divine and the clerk, Capt. Owen Fennell. The business transacted was largely routine though some time was given to consideration of a certified audit of the books of the county and a discussion of roads.

The regular monthly report of County Treasurer H. McL. Green, showing receipts and disbursements of the public fund for September was audited and approved as follows:

Receipts—Balance from August account, General County Fund, $8,506.73; Special County Fund, $267.59; Road Fund, $1,271.46; Road Sinking Fund, $7,791.91; Interest on road fund, $64.47; interest road sinking fund, $76.85; transfer from General to Road Fund, $5,000; property tax, $6,731.30; liquor tax, $118.75; Schedule B. tax, $352.45; marriage license, $27.55; County Home, $18.24. Total, $30,227.30.

Disbursements—Transfer from General to Road Fund, $5,000; public buildings, $98.58; roads and bridges, $316.06; Superior Court, $326.34; hospital $600; County Home, $279.15; Outdoor poor, $95.80; magistrates, $90.83; jail, $149.60; election $18; United Charities, $90.25; stationery and advertising, $14.50; tax listing, $328.32; commissioners, $131; miscellaneous, $72.71; Register of Deeds, $36.70; Superintendent of Health, $100; Coroner, $5; Constable $49.20; Clerk, $60; Janitor, $50; Road Fund, $2,249.11; road sinking fund, .96; Treasurer's commissions, $127. Total, $10,289.11

The balance to October account is $19,938.19 which is distributed as follows: General County Fund, $7,715.98; Special County Fund, $267.59; Road Fund,, $4,086.82; Road Sinking Fund, $7,867.80. Total $19,938.19.

The chairman read a number of propositions from auditing companies, offering their services for a certified audit of the books of the county, which matter the commissioners have had up for some time. The propositions were not only for a public audit of all books of the county but for the installation of entirely new systems of accounting for all departments of the government. The propositions were considered favorably and it was practically agreed to have a public accounting of all the books at the close of the fiscal year on Dec. 1st. However, no contract was awarded for the work but representatives of the several bidders were invited to come to Wilmington, talk the matter over and hear the decision of the Board.

Commissioner Divine referred to a tax of $10 imposed upon each automobile by the State of New Jersey, the proceeds reverting to the road fund, and inquired if some such law by the North Carolina Legislature would not raise considerable revenue in this State, as it was conceded that automobiles greatly damaged the surface of the improved roads. Chairman McEachern explained the plans in prospect for a State Highway Commission and State co-operation with counties in improved road building and said that all these details of revenue would likely be taken up before the next Legislature with the general movement, which would be launched at the Good Roads Congress in Greensboro next week. An effort will be made to have the entire New Hanover Board of Commissioners attend this meeting, several members already having arranged to attend, at their personal expense, of course.

Funeral of Edward Vereen.

The remains of little Edward Vereen, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Vereen, whose death occurred after an illness from typhoid fever Wednesday, were carried to Little River, S. C., yesterday morning. Services were conducted at the grave and the remains interred at that place.

FLURRY WITH THE POLICE

Appearance at Railway Station of Negro With Remains of White Infant Brought on Investigation by The Mayor.

A flurry in police circles was created yesterday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock when a telephone message reached Day Sergeant C. W. Woolard, at police headquarters, from the Atlantic Coast Line ticket agent, stating that a colored boy, Bob Shepard, from one of the livery stables, was there with the dead body of a two-year-old white child in a basket, parties to whom he had been sent to deliver it at the station having failed to put in their appearance.

Sergeant Woolard hastened to the railway station and placed the boy under arrest until some explanation of the gruesome incident could be couchsafed. The boy stated that he had received the child from the hospital at the direction of Dr. J. G. Murphy, the eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, who has an office in the Southern Building, and that the grandparents of the child were to have been at the train to receive the remains to take back with them to their home at Whiteville, N. C. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Reynolds, an aged couple with little money and experience in traveling, and they came to the city the day before to have an operation performed by Dr. Murphy for some obstruction in the child's throat, the operation being a charity one at the request of a resident physician in Whiteville. The operation had been performed by Dr. Murphy at the James Walker Memorial Hospital the afternoon before, but the child was very weak when it was brought to Wilmington and death ensued the same night. Out of kindness to the aged grandparents, who were stopping at the Fulton House, Dr. Murphy arranged to have the child placed in a basket and delivered to them at the railway station for the early morning train. When the colored man arrived at the station, however, the grandparents had already boarded the train and before the colored man could find them, the train had pulled off, hence his dilemma and application to the ticket agent for information as to what to do. The body of the child was not accompanied by a death certificate, hence the railroad's refusal to accept same for transportation. This resulted from a misunderstanding between Dr. Murphy and Dr. R. B. Seem, surgeon in charge of the hospital, Dr. Murphy being of the opinion that the certificate would be issued by the hospital physician and Dr. Seem thinking that the certificate had been made out by Dr. Murphy, as is usually the case with private patients.

The remains were taken to the City Hall where an investigation of the affair was conducted by the Mayor, the physicians making the satisfactory explanations of the lack of a certificate as stated. Dr. Murphy, when he learned of the miscarriage of the arrangements for taking the child to Whiteville by the granparents, telephoned to his brother physician in Whiteville and the remains were prepared for burial by Undertaker W. W. King and forwarded on the afternoon train, Officer Leon George accompanying the body to meet the requirements of the railroad company.

Both Dr. Murphy and Dr. Seem regretted the mistake, which was unfortunate in the extreme but hardly avoidable considering the early hour, the poverty of the grandparents of the child and their inexperience in traveling.

COAL DUMP COLLAPSED

Two Gondolas With 100 Tons of Fuel Precipitated to River Bottom at Coast Line Wharf Yesterday Afternoon.

The coal dump or wharf of the Atlantic Coast Line, at foot of Hanover street, collapsed under the weight of two large gondolas laden with 100 tons of fuel, which were run out on the pier shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday, precipitating the cars and the coal and the timbers into 23 feet of water. Fortunately there were two lighter cars between the shifting engine and the gondolas and these broke loose at their couplings as the structure went down and no one was hurt.

The dump is an arrangement used by the Coast Line in running coal cars over lighters and scows to dump the cars from the bottom into the lighters or scows underneath. Yesterday two of the heaviest coal cars in the service were run out on the pier preparatory to dumping into a lighter, which, however, had not then been run under the dump, and under the weight of these cars the foundations gave way and the entire struc-

CHICAGO CHAMPIONS

White Sox Third Time Capture Pennant in National League Baseball Organization.

NOW FOR WORLD'S SERIES

Opens in Detroit Saturday—Exhibition in New York Yesterday Beggars Description—Game as Played in Detail.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, October 8.—"Chicago 4; New York, 2—This was the tale in a phrase told at the end of the most decisive ball game played in this country in many years; played at the Polo Grounds in this city today to decide the National League championship for the season of 1908.

In the presence of a record-breaking crowd which swamped the grounds and left many thousands outside long before the game begun, a game was played in deadly earnest to settle as tensely dramatic a situation as the most ardent lover of sport could imagine.

The game was played in the cheerful sunshine of an ideal baseball day before a vast concourse of people who carried with them to the Polo grounds the pent-up enthusiasm, hopes and fears accummulated day by day in the closing weeks of a season's fight for a National League pennant which had been absolutely unprecedented for constantly intensifying interest and uncertainty. At dusk the great multitude departed the historic enclosure—hushed and disappointed. The pennant does not wave above the sky-scrapers tonight. Its winners who arrived here on the Twentieth Century Limited this morning are now on their way westward. The large black headlines in the newspapers—"New York, 2; Chicago, 4"—are like mourning captions over the story of some great personage's death. And yet probably Manager McGraw's words after the game, in the unwonted quiet of the training quarters where the Giants were having their last showers and rubdowns, epitomizes the feelings the vast army of New Yorks followers, from those of the merest office boy to the occupant of a grand stand box:

"I do not feel badly about the game; we merely lost something we had won before."

Fair, or not, this appears to be the view generally obtaining in Greater New York. It was great baseball, viewed by the greatest of great baseball crowds—would have been more than doubled could the fences have been stretched out into a circle of sufficient size to include all those who had clamored vainly for admittance. Spectators who know the game, however bitter they may feel over the tie decision which made today's game compulsory, seem to concede tonight that the work of the Chicago team was practically perfect.

The Giants, well though they played, were outplayed. Chicago fresh from rest, was superb in form. Brilliant, errorless fielding, snappy base running and opportune hitting in the third inning which made effective in scores a double by Chance, won the game. New York could not hit at critical times. Mathewson, the great "Matty," favorite of the favorites, could not keep his invincible arm power and the effect of a moment's lapse in that third inning could not be overcome.

The gathering of the vast crowd which witnessed the contest was picturesque in the extreme. At daybreak the enthusiasts had begun to assemble—and places in line were held by dozens of the great unknown who had traveled from some midnight breadline to get a place an eager "fan" would pay well for later in the day.

Immediately the gates swung open, hundreds fairly hurled themselves within the enclosure. By noon the sale of tickets ended, and soon there was not a seat—hardly standing room. And beyond the enclosure every overtopping structure—chimneys, derricks, roofs—had their precariously hung swarm of "rooters." Outside the grounds for an hour preceding the calling of the game at 2:45 o'clock there was an almost uncontrollable crush of thousands desperately anxious to get inside. Suddenly the corner gates to the diamond were flung wide and hundreds rushed madly to the sides of the field fighting for places. The police fought the crowd back, and finally a sufficient margin of field was maintained around the diamond.

When the word came "Play," a silence fell over all—a tenseness which could be felt. The thousands of cowbells and horns were unused. The great game was on. It held the crowd as by a spell. The players felt the tension. Chicago plainly showed it, and Sheckard, facing Mathewson, struck out. Then Evers went out on a fast stop by Herzog to Tenney. Schulte struck out.

New York to bat. Tenney was hit with the ball and went to first. Herzog got a base on balls; Bresnahan struck out, and Herzog was caught off first by a wonderful throw by Kling to Chance, making a double play. Then Donlin knocked a two bagger and Teney scored. Chance

BULGARIAN COMPLICATIONS.

It begins to look like there will soon be some changes in the map of southeastern Europe. What the changes will be no one can predict. All depends on what those powers which signed the Berlin treaty will do. They guaranteed Turkey's sovereignty over Bulgaria which has now declared her absolute independence. Crete has thrown off the protectorate of the four European powers, and her people have declared independence of Turkey and the protectorate and that the island be annexed to the Kingdom of Greece as a part thereof. Austria annexes Bosnia and Herzegovinia, thus extending her territory to the southwest.

These three changes in themselves seem insignificant, but there may be a great deal in them in their relation to the greater powers.

Bulgaria seems determined to have her independence and to be willing to fight Turkey for it, her people believing they can easily win out. Should the powers unite in supporting Turkey's claim, Bulgaria could not expect to gain her independence; if they hold off she will enter upon a bloody war, to be conquered in the end and the condition of her people be made much more deplorable than at present. For the reason that Turkey now has suzerainty over Bulgaria her complete subjugation of that country would not be an extension of her territory in Europe, and as the powers formerly guaranteed that suzerainty they will hardly force her now to abandon it. Austria, however, may complicate matters. She has always sided with Bulgaria in her many contenions with Turkey, and if war arises between these two countries she may also go to war with the latter, with the object of ultimately absorbing the former. This, of course, will not suit the other powers. Austria's desire to extend her boundaries in that direction has been well known for a long while.

It is probably the knowledge that Austria will take a hand in the war which makes the Bulgarians so determined to fight for her independence.

These conditions make Bulgaria a very disturbing element in the international affairs of Europe.

AFTER ANOTHER SCALP.

They are after the scalp of another one of the campaign managers, a Republican this time, and they are hot on his trail. The quarry is Frank B. Kellog, of Minnesota. He stands high in the councils of his party. He is a member of the National committee; was a delegate-at-large to the Chicago convention, where he helped frame the platform; is one of the administration's reputed trust-busters. He is also candidate for the United State Senate. Notwithstanding all this it is said he is a close ally of the American Steel corporation.

A special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Minneapolis says that representatives of the Democratic National committee are in Minnesota looking up Kellog's record for the purpose of showing his connection with the steel trust. As these men will not stoop to the measures Hearst adopted to secure evidence against the men he attacked because of their alleged connection with the Standard Oil Company, Kellog may have covered up his tracks so well that they cannot convict him; but of course he should retire from his prominent position in the party as soon as it is shown that he is connected with such a gigantic monopoly as the steel trust, which is classed by the President as one of the bad trusts. In these circumstances Roosevelt would hardly think it proper, or rather politic for him to come to the defense of the accused.

The most remarkable feature of this campaign his been the many accusations against prominent men of corruption and improper connection with corporations while acting as State or Federal officers, and it seems that the list has not yet been completed.

Another deplorable feature of the campaign has been the vindictiveness displayed on the stump and in the letter writing, and the indications are that this feature will increase as the campaign grows hotter as the day of election approaches. There has been nothing like it since the Cleveland-Blaine campaign in 1884.

WOMEN TRYING TO REGISTER.

A lot of women of the Women's Progressive Union, headed by Dr. Julia Sears, president of the New Thought College, went to one of the voting precincts in New York the other day and demanded the right to be registered for the State and national elections. Of course none of them got their names on the books, to their great disgust and indignation. Mrs. Sears announced that she had voted in Colorado and read from the constitution the clause which forbade any State to deny or abridge the rights or privileges of the citizens of any other State, but it was of no avail. Several other voting places were visited by women who demanded the right to register with the same result.

We expect to see women in other Northern States follow the example of those in New York, although they all know that their registration, if granted, would be illegal and they would not be allowed to vote; but it would give them a little cheap notoriety, and that is what they desire more than the right to vote. This movement, we are glad to know, will be confined to Northern States.

"We never tell the substance of letters sent out from here," was the only reply Secretary Loeb would make when asked about the statement from Bishop Cranston, presiding at the Methodist Conference in Rochester, that he had received a letter from President Roosevelt stating positively that he would not take the stump. Of course Loeb would not admit that any such letter had been written, and if Roosevelt does enter the campaign and the letter is produced it will immediately be denounced as a forgery. That is the White House style these days—to deny everything that the public is not wanted to know.

"There need be no fear that the Legislators will fail to find plenty of 'features,' for the country is always in need of more laws."—Charlotte Chronicle.

Will the Chronicle allow us to amend the above? It would be nearer the facts to say that most Legislators think the country is always in need of more laws.

The defeat for renomination of a number of Senators who voted against Governor Hughes' racing bills is causing much comment in New York. So far five have failed of renomination in the up-State. This indicates that Hughes is stronger in that section than was supposed. The New York Times says this fact is significant.

Bulgaria is a mighty little country to produce such a stir among all the big nations. But each one is afraid one of the others might unduly profit by a decisive war between the Bulgarians and Turks.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The report comes from Washington that Judge Taft is making arrangements to tour the South. If he intends to do that, he is losing time that might be well spent elsewhere. It is no use for the Republicans to be bothering themselves about the South.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—The action of the Patternmakers' Union of Philadelphia in denouncing by resolution, the Standard Ball-Bearing Company, of that city, for attempting to intimidate its employes and coerce them into voting for Taft, is strikingly indicative of the fact that the laboringman of these United States are by no means as credulous and gullible as they once were.—Virginian Pilot.

—How can the President consistently expect Government employes to hold hands off in the campaign when he plunges into it openly? How can he forbid others in the service to contribute to the campaign fund of his party when he admits that vast sums were derived from the trusts and large capitalistic corporations by his secretary of the treasury to promote his own election? The President's example, which is diametrically opposed to all his preaching, is far more potent with his subordinates than all his shining precepts, so absolutely ignored by himself in his daily practice—Danville Register.

—Many bluffs are being called these days in the political game that could have been, and were worked successfully in the years gone by. A few days ago the Standard Ball-Bearing Company of Philadelphia posted notices in its building saying that if Taft was elected the wages of employees would at once be raised, but that on the other hand, if he was defeated there would be a curtailment in production, the wage scale cut and the possibility of the employment made uncertain. But the Pattern Makers' Union of the Quaker City was equal to the occasion. It denounced the action of the Standard Company and called upon all working men to refuse to be either bribed or intimidated into voting for Taft. The pattern-makers' protest will have effect for it is a representative union, including in its membership the employes of some of the bigest concerns in the country, including Cramp's ship-yard and the Baldwin Locomotive Works.—Raleigh Times.

—Comptroller of the Currency Murray seems to be alive to the fact that the orgnization of new national banks has been made too easy in the past, and he is said to be adopting a new policy of watchfulness over the birth of these institutions. Since the act of 1900, which reduced the minimum capital from $50,000 to $25,000, the number of national banks has been just about doubled and the organization of them has been made more than twice as easy. The unwise prohibition of branches of strong banks has resulted in the establishment of a multitude of small independent banks which may readily fall under the control of larger ones or of the men who conduct them. This is liable to become a source of weakness to the system where branches of responsible institutions would be a source of strength.—Journal of Commerce.

—At Asheville, the other day, Dr. Westray Battle was hailed into court to testify under the law as to his knowledge in a case of alleged violation of the prohibition law. He fell back upon his dignity and refused to testify. This, of course, puts the law to a square test. Commenting upon the bucking of Dr. Battle, The Statesville Landmark wisely comments that in his case, "much talk is made of the indignity offered a prominent citizen and physician. This has nothing to do with it. If the law is a proper one it should apply to all citizens alike and Dr. Battle's prominence should not stand in the way of its being applied to him any more than to the humblest citizen. We know nothing of Dr. Battle personally, but the idea that a man who is prominent should not be brought under the terms of any law just as any ordinary citizen, is an abominable heresy that no good citizen of sense will urge. The truth is that too often gentlemen who think they are of some prominence try to do as they please, under the idea that they are not subject to the regulations imposed on other citizens."—Charlotte Chronicle.

—Fayetteville Observer: As Mr. J. R. Boyd, wife and two children were approaching their home on Russell street in a buggy late yesterday afternoon, a runaway horse attached to the U. S. mail wagon, was seen dashing towards them at a furious pace. Mr. Boyd, with great presence of mind, turned the buggy broadside to the oncoming horse, and telling his wife to jump from the offside with the children, he followed suit. This manoeuvre brought the maddened animal to a sudden stop, the shock from the impact with the buggy almost knocking the life out of it. On the other side of the breastworks furnished by the buggy, Mr. Boyd and his family were safe, but they had a very narrow escape.

It's Up to You to be our judge, Geo O. Gaylord's Stores have had their Fall opening, and extended the most liberal invitation to everyone to visit and inspect our stock, we will now leave the decisionin your hands Judging from the immense crowds that we had both days of the opening, and the number of pleasant compliments paid us on the wealth of merchandise that we had to show and from the way the ladies purchased their early Fall hats, we must pronounce our opening a great success. We say we are cheaper than other stores, not that we carry less desirable goods in style and quality, but there are many reasons why we can sell for less and one of the chief reasons that in this one store there are many stores, each department representing a store within itself. I wish to extend thanks for all the clerks and milliners in the store and myself for the very large attendance that we had, and now down to business. We want to sell you more good than we have ever sold you, and do it, yes, sure we will do it. Our customers have not been buying so many goods through the Summer, and now the 35,000 people that live in this city, and the 50,000 that live in the County need their Fall and Winter supplies. We have just the articles you want, the goods are new, the prices are right. Our Dress Goods Department has just been newly supplied with Panamas', Mohairs, Broadcloth's, Voiles, Peaudesoi Silks, Taffetas and Fall Percales and everything that is new and pretty in that department. Think! We are selling today 36 inch Henrietta at 25c per yard, today twelve months ago it was 50c, Soisete Silks, glossy and serviceable good enough for a queen and only 25c per yard to you. 54 inch Panama in Black $1.00 quality now 65c. $1.25 Peaudesoi Silks for $1.00 per yard today. Standard yard wide Percales only 10c. Beat these prices? No you can't.

Our Cloak Department and Tailor made suits has grown so big and strong we can hardly get room for them, just think what we can show you today a beautiful Broadcloth coat, full 50 inches long, made to fit perfect, trimmed enough to be neat, but not loaded with cheap trimmings, last season this coat would easily bring $12.50, today price is $8.00. The Swell coats that we have is some for the few that wants something that nobody else has got, and the kind that is a little better than her neighbors, the only thing that I can describe about them is the price and that is about $25.00 each. Now to the lady that wants a 54 inch coat that looks as good as a neighbors $15.00 coat let her come to us and I will sell it to her for $5.00 or $6.00. The styles, quantity and prices can not be described come and look at them. It does not take much pocket change to buy one, but they are reasonable for all to obtain. Our Tailor Made Suits is the talk of the town, we have won first place in this department from the beginning. If we have not got just the style you want and color you like and size you need why we will order it for you, and all we require is your word that you will take it when it comes. I can't tell it all, every clerk in the store sent a special message for you to come and see them. You know the place, of course you do, The Big Store on Front Street that gives away premiums every day, if you have not got it, get the habit and come early before the plumes are all gone.

A Case of Woman Hating.

[Original.]

"I am a philosopher," said Colonel Donovan, "and no man can be that without being a woman hater. A man doesn't get to be a philosopher till he is past middle age. Then he begins to see the shallowness of earthly expectations and enjoyments. It is the same with his views of woman. In youth he looks upon woman—women who, like himself, have not grown old; of the older ones he takes no account—as something so pure and holy that he is unworthy to tie her shoe. But when the day comes for him to associate with those who have turned thirty-five he has no use for them. His mother, his sister, his wife? Oh, they are a part of himself. They are not in the world of romance, but of family affection."

Now, the colonel, despite his hobby—this belief that he really hated the softer sex—was an excellent man. He had been jilted in his youth by a girl who was unworthy of him, and, strange to say, she was to him in his maturity the only saint in the lot.

The remarks quoted above were made to the major's wife, who, by the way, was a warm friend and admirer of the colonel, preliminary to asking her to get him a housekeeper. It was a month after a promise to that effect that a woman arrived from the east and was duly installed in the position. Her hair was grizzly gray, her cheeks furrowed, her eyes covered by dark brown goggles, and she was dressed in execrable taste. The colonel thanked the major's wife that Mrs. Yorgany was just the thing. No such unattractive creature could possibly have the assurance to try to snare him, and if she did, were she possessed of magic arts, her looks would defeat her.

Mrs. Yorgany possessed but one attractive feature, a pleasant voice. At first the colonel would give his orders for the day to his housekeeper as he would to the adjutant, and when she asked a question or made a suggestion he found himself soothed by the smooth tones in which she spoke. One evening when the fire in her room wouldn't burn he invited her to sit with her sewing beside the table in his living room. He was very much interested in a book he was reading and wanted some one to talk to about it. He found a willing listener in Mrs. Yorgany. For one hour while he talked she listened attentively, but spoke never a word. The next day the colonel informed the major's wife that his housekeeper might be homely, but she was an excellent conversationalist. After this he invited Mrs. Yorgany to use his sitting room whenever she liked.

The next evening the old lady, being again turned out of her room, was pressed by the colonel to sit by his table. Thinking it best that he should inform her of his opinion of women, he did so and with his usual brusqueness when speaking on that subject. What was his surprise when she replied, "My late husband was a woman hater, and he got all his points from me."

"You, Mrs. Yorgany! You a"—

"Women have all the characteristics natural to their condition. Man's strength causes him to rely upon open methods; woman's weakness tends to duplicity. Then the part nature gave her to perform, the care of children, develops different faculties from those needed by man, who fights the battle for family maintenance."

The colonel put out his hand impulsively. "Shake, madam, shake! By Jove, you've more sense than any woman I ever met or heard of. I want you to make yourself at home in these quarters—in this room—anywhere you like. In future I shall give you no orders, but a carte blanche to run everything to suit yourself."

From that time forward Mrs. Yorgany was indispensable to the colonel. Gradually he became accustomed to her uncouth appearance, and when at the end of the third month of her service she offered her resignation the colonel swore he would put her under arrest and prefer charges against her for deserting her post. When she stuck to her intention he shut himself up for three days, then offered to marry her.

The next day the colonel received a note from the major's wife asking him to call. On his arrival Mrs. Major introduced a middle aged spinster of attractive mien, a lifelong chum of hers, Florence Wood. The colonel stared at Miss Wood with astonishment. She appeared to be a revised edition of Mrs. Yorgany. The goggles were gone; the furrows were gone; everything was gone that was ugly. She stood regarding the colonel with a smile on her lips and her eyes dancing with mischief.

"Colonel," said Mrs. Major, "I had a bet with my husband that I could induce you to marry a fright within three months. The time is up today, and I have won. I knew my friend Florence Wood possessed the tact and good sense to bring down just such a man as you within the allotted time. I brought her out here, giving her as disagreeable an appearance and name as possible, to capture you. You have swallowed the bait, hook and all."

"But—but Miss Wood is young. The glamour of youth is still there," blurted the astounded colonel.

"I am past middle life," laughed Miss Wood. "I am thirty-six."

"And she had no glamour of youth when she caught you," added Mrs. Major.

The colonel was much cast down when Miss Wood averred that she did it all to please her friend and that it was but a joke. She took her departure the next day, but the colonel, turning over the command to the major, followed her and never gave up until he brought her back as his wife.

NIGHT RIDERS IN JOHNSON

Note of Warning Left on Platform of Gin at Kenly, N. C. This Week.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Dunn, N. C., Oct. 8.—The following letter was found on the platform of the Dunn Oil Mills cotton gin at Kenly, N. C., addressed to the ginner, Mr. Kirby, yesterday morning:

"Mr. Henry Cirbey:—You Must not Gen (gin) no more Cotton after Sat-Day on to (until) it go to 12 1-2 cent. Af (if) you Do your Gen (gin) will go Up in smoke. I be god Dam of (if) you Haben (had not) Better listen to it To and When cotton Goes to 12 1-2 cent You can Gen all You want To."

Messrs. G. G. Edgerton & Son are running the gin this season for the oil company. The above letter was forwarded to Mr. J. D. Barnes, of Dunn, who is president of the company. Mr. Barnes left today on the noon train for Kenly. He says he purposes putting several men around the gin house with shot guns and Winchester rifles with instructions to shoot down any man who tries to approach the gin without giving his name. The gin is a large one and fills a long felt want in the community The company owns another large one at Dunn capable of ginning 50 bales in 24 hours. Both of these gins run night and day and will continue to do so as long as there is cotton sufficient to keep them going. Judging from the appearance of the letter it is some negro or low ignorant white man. It is to be hoped that the guilty party or parties will be apprehended and placed in the State's prison. Evidently the anarchist is among us and it behooves every good citizen to do his best to put an end to such intimidations in our land of freedom.

THE TURPENTINE INDUSTRY.

Forestry Service Representative of the Government Here for Inquiry.

Mr. J. O. LaFontisee, of Jacksonville, Fla., a special representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, Forestry Service, arrived in the city yesterday from Georgetown, S. C., for the purpose of gathering any data that may be of value to the Department in regard to the turpentine industry in this section.

The Department is making a comprehensive study of this industry in the South and the causes which are making for its ultimate extinction with a view of co-operation with the operaters and dealers in preserving or perpetuating the resource by the application of intelligent and plausible methods of orcharding and replanting. He is very enthusiastic over the subject and will confer with a number of the local dealers today.. A former newspaper man and at one time on the Messenger in this city, Mr. LaFontisee receives more than the usual cordial welcome to Wilmington.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The British steamer Hermia, Captain Fettis, cleared yesterday for Glasgow, Scotland, with cargo of gum logs, lumber and rosin, valued at $16,410 consigned by the Acme Tea Chest Co., vessel by Heide & Co.

—Frank Jackson, colored, was arrested yesterday by Officer Jones at the City Hall on the charge of vagrancy, and placed in the guard house to await trial in the police court today.

—The cotton receipts at the local port yetserday were 6,161 bales, which is the largest in one day in the past two weeks. Middling was quoted at 8 5-8 cents, an advance of an eigth over previous day's quotations.

—Ike Davis, colored, who was tried before Justice Bornemann on July 30th on a peace warrant sworn out by his wife, and committed to the county farm for 60 days, was yesterday released from custody. Davis' release was secured through his attorney, Thos. K. Woody, Esq.

The Theatre

Tonight the Academy offers probably what will prove the feature of its entire season, as the attraction for this evening is the most noted, the most talked of play of the season—"The Devil."

The play is now enjoying a big run in New York city. It is the Broadway triumph of the season, and bids fair to gloriously run the entire season. So it can well be seen the importance of tonight's offering. Then add to this fact that the play to be seen at the Academy will be the authorized Henry W. Savage version, and that the company is a splendid one and the scenic production really brilliant. Alan Dale, the caustic critic of the New York American, has unqualifiedly endorsed "The Devil". I have seen the play twice" writes Mr. Dale "and am going again." Several million other people agree with Mr. Dale which should be flattering to this eminent dramatic critic, for the entire civilized world is regarding "The Devil" as an epoch making drama. Seats are now selling at Plummer's.

At the Academy of Music, tomorrow afternoon and night, Klimit and Gazzalo will present their famous play "On the Bridge at Midnight." The bridge scene, which gives the play its title, was a revelation even to Chicagoans, who have the original, the great jack-knife bridge, in their city. At first the bridge itself was a subject of doubt and even engineers said it would be impracticable. After it proved its great worth and perfect mechanism the idea of giving an adequate reproduction on the stage aroused the doubters, but Messrs. Klimit and Gazzolo triumphed over all difficulties and when the play was produced, in Chicago, the bridge opened its great valves like the original and ships passed through. Prices for the night performance are 75c.; matinee prices, 25 and 35c.

Popular Prices Next Week.

The Academy will make its first popular price offering next week, when the Mason-Newcomb Stock Co. will make its bow to Wilmington theatre-goers. The company is said to be a good one and will, no doubt, be greeted by large audiences. Its repertoire consists of all new plays and the company has an abundance of specialities, the latter furnishing a swell vaudeville feature. For the opening night, when the well known drama, "Midnight in Chinatown," will be presented, the usual couresy to the ladies will be extended. Seats for Monday night will go on sale at Plummer's tomorrow morning.

REPUBLICANS TO SPEAK.

Hon. Thos. Settle and Hon. J. Elwood Cox to Speak Here This Month.

In a list of appointments of Republican speakers in yesterday's Greensboro Daily Industrial News appears a date for Hon. Thos. Settle, elector at large on the Republican ticket in this State, and Hon. J. Elwood Cox, of High Point, Republican nominee for Governor, who are announced to speak in Wilmington the night of October 22nd.

Local Republican leaders were asked last night as to the conflict of the date with Senator Overman's appointment here the same evening. They stated that the appointment had without a doubt been made without knowledge of the previous Democratic appointment and that the matter would be taken up with the State chairman with a view of changing the date, as they had no purpose in wanting to "butt in" on a Democratic speaking. The Republican speakers come into Wilmington from Charlotte and go from here to Newbern, Kinston and Washington, N. C.

HIS FAREWELL SERMON.

Dr. W. L. Pickard at First Baptist Church Last Evening.

Dr. W. L. Pickard, the able divine of Savannah, Ga., who has been conducting an excellent series of sermons at the First Baptist church, preached his farewell sermon last evening to a splendid congregation. The revival meetings opened on Sunday, October 4th and Dr. Pickard's sermons have attracted large congregation throughout the time and have been the scource of much good.

Dr. Pickard will conduct a service this morning at 10 o'clock and will leave this afternoon for his home in Savannah. During the meetings 26 accessions have been made to the church. Dr. Hale, the pastor, will conduct the services tonight and Sunday, which will be the close of the protracted meetings.

strenuously but vainly protested that the two-base hit was a foul. Seymour was given a base on balls. Pitcher Pfeister was in a tight position, so Chance took Pfeister out of the box, putting in Mordecai Brown. Devlin struck out.

Second inning—Chicago: Chance singled to right but was caught off first, Mathewson to Tenney. A protest came, this time from Hofman who continued to talk and was finally ordered off the field. Then Moran who went to the coaching box began more talk and he too was promptly banished. Play resumed, Steinfeldt struck out. Howard went to bat in Hofman's place and likewise struck out. New York went out in one, two three order.

The third was more eventful. Tinker's beautiful three-bagger to deep center started the run-getting for Chicago. Kling then singled to left and Tinker came home amid great cheering. Brown grounded out to Tenney, advancing Kling to second. Sheckard flied to Seymour who made a spectacular throw holding Kling on second. Then Evers went to first on balls, Schulte doubled to left, scoring Kling and, Chance's two bagger to right scored Evers and Schulte. Seinfeldt struck out. These were Chicago's four runs; the Westerners got no more, but they were enough.

The contest then seemed to have resolved itself into a question of which side could go out the fastest for the next three innings.

Now the "lucky seventh" but it was not 'the lucky' for New York. Chicago batters were quickly dispatched in their half.

The fans took up their famous war cry "Giants Lucky Seventh" and New York went to the bat. Devlin singled to deep center and McCormick hit safely to right for a base. Then Bridwell got a base on balls and all the sacks were taken. Here was where everybody held his breath. At this critical juncture when suspense accentuated the silence Manager McGraw sent Doyle in to bat for Mathewson. Great clamor broke forth, for it meant that Mathewson would pitch no more in this game. A long hit was needed. Everything had prepared the way for this particular instant. Mathewson had a way of rallying at the moment of greatest stress. Doyle failed to fill the bill. He sent up a nice little "pop foul" which fell into the clutches of Catcher Kling and that ended Doyle.

To be sure Devlin scored on Tenney's fly to Schulte; but Herzog went out Tinker to Chance and the seventh was over.

The eighth was quickly. Wiltse pitched for New York now in Mathewson's place. Evers knocked a double to left with one out and Schulte got first on Tenney's fumble which allowed Evers to make third. Chance flied out to McCormick, who threw to Bresnahan at the plate, catching Evers. One, two, three again for New York in this inning..

It was three up and three out on each side in the ninth. It was all over, and there was hardly a shout from the immense crowd.

Chicago, 4; New York, 2. And there was no appeal. The pennant of 1908 was securely in Chicago's grip and it was Chicago, not New York, that would seek the world's championship with Detroit, champion of the other league.

A display of rowdyism at the very end of the game by a few disgruntled spectators marred in a measure what had hither to been fair treatment of the visiting players. No attempt was made during the game itself to interfere with the Chicago team, but after the game when the crowd had swarmed on the field, a number of roughs attacked Captain Chance, who with his fellow players was making his way to the club house. Several pop bottles were thrown and one struck Chance in the neck inflicting what is said to be a slight bruise. The Chicago players left for the West at 8 o'clock tonight.

The score is as follows:

Chicago	004 000 000	4	8 0
New York	100 000 100	2	5 1

Two-base hit—Donlin, Schulte, Chance, Evers. Three-base hit Tinker. Hits off Pfeister one in 2-3 innings; off Brown 4 in 8 1-3 innings; off Mathewson 7 in seven innings; off Wiltse one in two innings. Sacrifice hits Teney, Brown. Double plays Kling and Chance; McCormick and Bresnahan. Left on bases Chicago, 3; New York, 6; first base on balls, off Pfeister two, off Brown one, off Mathewson, one. First base on errors, Chicago, one, hit by pitcher by Pfeister one. Struck out by Mathewson seven, by Wiltse, 2; by Pfeister, 2; by Brown 1. Time 1.40. Umpires Johnstone and Klem.

The World Series.

Cincinnati, October 8.—Beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, October 10th, the baseball teams of Chicago and Detroit which have just won the closest recorded contest for the championship of the National and the American Leagues will meet at Detroit to enter on a series of games for the championship of the world. But one game will be played at Detroit before the scene shifts. The Sunday and Monday contests go to Chicago, while the Tuesday and Wednesday games are to be played at Detroit, and the sixth game, if one is necessary will then be transferred to Chicago. There have been some additional rules adopted governing such contests, one of which provides that neither of the contesting clubs shall be permited to pay a bonus or prize to any or all of its players who may take part in the series either before or after the same has been completed.

The National Baseball Commission will be in charge, but the immediate control of the games is given to two umpires from each league. All games will start at 2 P. M. For the National League Umpires O'Day and Klen were designated by President Pulliam while President Johnson of the American League named Sheridan and Connolly to represent his organization.

All the rules heretofore adopted by the National and American Leagues will apply to the series as well as the detail rules adopted by the Commission and including one change which provides for the appointment of four umpires instead of two.

The authority of the umpires in these contests will be supreme and before the distribution of the prize money belonging to the players, the commission will take cognizance of all reports by their umpires and inflict such penalties to be taken from the prize money belonging to such players.

THE OWLS ENTHUSIASTIC.

Great Meeting Last Night—Fall Festival to be Given Later.

One of the most largely attended meetings of the Wilmington Nest of the Order of Owls was that last night when upwards of a hundred members were in attendance. The special matter for consideration was the proposed Fall Festival which the order will give in this city a week in November, the date to be announced later. The members of the order manifested a lively interest in the affair and all the necessary committees were appointed to carry out the plans of the management for this big week of fun and frolic.

Compress Fire Extinguished.

The fire which has been smouldering in between 700 and 800 tons of steam coal in a bunker at the Champion Compress for the past three days was finally extingushed yesterday after the last of the coal had been removed. The fire was near the center of the bunker room and had burned a space of ten or twelve feet square in the floor of the bin.

HAD QUIT WORK
READY TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR
Restored to Health By Vinol

"I was sick, run-down and finally had to give up work. After trying a number of remedies and several physicians, I was just about ready to give up in despair. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and it has done more good for me than all other means combined. It has built me up and restored my strength until I now feel twenty years younger, and am able to attend to my work again as usual." Job Jeavons, 1036 Lind street, Wheeling, W. Va.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains tonic iron and all of the strengthening blood-making and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

Vinol is unexcelled as a strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness—and is the best known remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis.

We return your money if Vinol fails to give satisfaction.

We are going to make it the best store of its kind you ever stepped into. We realized some time ago that the putting up of a new and modern building in every respect was necessary to take care of our increased business and give the people of Wilmington such a store as their patronage deserves. If you are not already a customer we want to make you one.

It's worth something to have such a clothing store in Wilmington; if you don't find it out tomorrow you'll find it out later. You'll realize the advantage of a place where you can be sure of quality always, where you can count on getting your money's worth. You'll appreciate too; it' worth a good deal to any man to know that the clothes he wears are all wool; a good deal of clothing is being sold now-a-days that's mostly cotton, HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX are masters of style; the tailoring and finish is such as is not equaled by many custom tailors; even the highest priced clothes, to measure, seldom are as good; cheap tailoring is n't in the same class with them.

You'll find our Furnishing Department an "Eye Opener."

NECKWEAR, SHIRTS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, and little fixings, the very best standard brands.

The new store itself is worth seeing even if you don't buy. Our great day-light first floor for Clothing is the best Clothing salesroom in the city. Drop in on us tomorrow; we'll be "at home," and every day after that.

WATTERSON A SPEAKER

Made His First Political Speech Since 1892 at Democratic Rally in Louisville Last Night—Favorable For Democrats.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 8.—Henry Watterson was the principal speaker at a Democratic rally in the Masonic theatre tonight. As this was Mr. Watterson's first political speech since 1892, and will probably be his only platform utterance during the present campaign much interest was manifested. He said in part:

"I truly rejoice that I have lived to look upon a re-united Democracy. I was born in a Democratic camp during what proved a bad year for Democrats, and attained my majority just in time to see the party go over the precipice of sectionalism to what seemed its ruin.

"The politicians tell us there are many issues, but I see only one. If we cannot change our rules at will, if an organized and defiant minority inside a fortress can withstand the siege of an undisciplined and ill-equipped majority on the outside, how shall talk about trusts and tariffs, about rebates and bank deposits, about money and morals, and stocks and bonds profit us?

"If I were a Republican I should vote for Bryan. If I were a Republican I should let the big chief with his 'big stick' go hang. If I were a Republican I should turn my back on a candidate, no matter how personally acceptable, who represents the vicious methods of ring rule and the steam roller.

"Whatever usefulness the Republican party possessed, it has for the time outlived. It stands today a menace to equal taxation and economic administration if not to orderly Government and free institutions. Its leaders know this and knowing it, they began early to prepare for the coming Presidential battle; to fortify a field which they thought to make impregnable by the outlaw of vast resources and engineering skill.

Referring to a reported speech of the Congressman Longworth at Rock Island, Illinois, where it was alleged that Mr. Longworth spoke of President Roosevelt as successor of Taft as President eight years hence, Mr. Watterson said:

"Nicholas Longworth, the President's son-in-law says he did not say it. But five thousand listeners say he did. The notes of two stenographers say he did. What boots it whether he did or did not? No one knows what is going on in the National capital and has been going on for a long time, needs to be told that they are undermining the popular foundations of our Democratic Government and converting it into an imperial republic, with nothing wanting of monarchism and titular nobility except the nomenclature.

"The White House is already the palace of a King. The President is already a sovereign in everything except the name. Why should not a member of a court circle blurt it out that Taft is expected merely to hold down the job for Roosevelt since it was thought premature to run Roosevelt for the immediate succession? The campaign was, and it is, a family affair."

CAPTURED SECOND PRIZE

State Champion Stokley Did Fine Shooting at Durham This Week.

State Champion R. G. Stokley and Dr. J. H. Dreher, of Wilmington, returned yesterday morning from Durham, where they attended the trap shoot in progress there the two days previous. Mr. Stokley was lucky enough to make second high average on the traps for the two days, being surpassed only by Mr. George A. Lyon, and winning a very handsome silver, gold lined, cup as the trophy. Stokley shot 170-200 the first day but on Wednesday he increased his average to 351 out of 400 while George Lyon shot only 368-400. Dr. Dreher was high up among the amateurs with 334 out of 400. The shoot was in every way a success and attracted some of the best amateur and professional shots in the State.

Their Honeymoon Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright Adams, of Charlotte, who were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Nunnery at Chester, S. AUSTRIA'S ATTITUDE Toward Turkey and Her Revolting Provinces—Seeks Independence for Bulgaria — Negotiating Therefor With Powers.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Budapest, Oct. 8.—Austria already has entered upon negotiations with the various powers for the recognization of the new Kingdom of Bulgaria and the establishment of peaceful relations between Turkey and Bulgaria. Baron von Aehrenthal, the foreign Minister, made this announcement in his speech at the opening sitting of the common delegates today. The Austrian newspapers and politicians have steadfastly denied that there was any understanding between Austria and Bulgaria in the recent double movement, but Austria's adoption of a protecting role toward Bulgaria indicates a strong community of interests.

In his address the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister said that Austria adopted a generally sympathetic attitude toward the new regime in Turkey. "This attitude," he said, "is based upon the definite hope that the new era in Turkey will produce the rejuvenation and invigoration of that State. Austria-Hungary, whose frontiers match with Turkey and whose interests consequently are most affected desires this from selfish reasons. A Turkey with a better government and more stable conditions would be more comfortable neighbor than the Turkey of yesterday. The leading elements on the new political era are showing praiseworthy moderation and prudence. This will profit the rejuvenated Kingdom all the more, since even the new Turkey has to rely upon the benevolence and friendly support of the powers. Such support she may depend upon receiving from us with more certainty the more she manifests a friendly attitude toward us."

Baron von Aehrenthal denied that Austria-Hungary was seeking a political and economic monopoly in the western Balkans and said: "The unique position occupied by Bosnia and Herzegovinia for 30 years has acted as a weight to Austria's eastern policy. We are getting rid of the shackles, but are carrying out the spirit of the Berlin treaty, having removed all possible causes of friction, and we would be glad to fall in line with other powers in a benevolent attitude toward Turkey."

Will Townsend Discharged.

The cases against Will Townsend, colored, who was tried in Justice Furlong's court Tuesday on the charge of assaulting Harry Thomas, a white man, with a pistol, and discharging firearms in the city, was discharged yesterday morning, the evidence in the case being insufficient to hold the defendant for higher court. The alleged assault occurred several months ago and evidence introduced in the case was to the effect that when Townsend attempted to shoot Thomas, the latter was in the act of firing on the negro who shot in self defense.

Raising Railroad Tracks.

Profiting by its experience with the overflow by the recent floods, the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line, owning the majority of the stock in the Wilmington Bridge Company which owns the section of railway track between this city and Navassa, has contracted with the firm of N. G. Wade & Co., for the elevation of the road bed between the points named one and a half feet above the present level and a force of 75 convicts from the State prison in charge of Supt. J. S. Busbee is now on the contract. It is expected that a month or more will be required to complete the work.

Number of Defendants Yesterday.

In the Mayor's court yesterday at noon a number of the "ne'er do wells" answered various charges. For disorderly conduct and drunkenness, Sis Lucas, Lillie Smith and Fannie Williams, all colored, were each given 30 days on the county farm. Ed Herring, drunk and down, was sent the roads to serve 30 days. J. H. Woebse, the white man arrested twice Wednesday for violating the huckster law was tried and judgment was suspended.

Marriage Wednesday Evening.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Capps, No. 514 Castle street, the marriage of Miss Bessie Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Craig, of Masonboro, and Mr. Edward Stokley, Jr., was solemnized in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends on Wednesday evening. Elder George Shepard, of the Advent Christian church, was the officiating minister. Mr. and Mrs. Stokley will reside at Myrtle Grove Sound.

Brotherhood Banquet.

A very interesting and enthusiastic meeting of the St. James Brotherhood was held last night at which all arrangements were made for the banquet which the Brotherhood will give on Monday evening, October 19th, to its beloved retiring rector, Rev. R. W. Hogue. The banquet will most likely be served at the Colonial Inn and music will be furnished by the St. James' Quartette. Programmes will be announced later.

Inquiries already are being made at the Navy Department at Washington as to the probability of the men of the battleship fleet being given shore leave during the stay of the vessels at Hampton Roads. This is a question, it is said at the navy department that will depend upon the wishes and desires of the commander-in-chief of the fleet, Admiral Sperry, and his action will be governed partly by the amount of time the vesels are at Hampton Roads and whether or not any or all of them will require coaling to continue their journey to New York and later to Guantanamo.

DEEP WATERWAYS MEETING GOING ON

Temple Graves Principal Speaker.

Tonight at the reception at the coliseum, John Temple Graves, Vice Presidential candidate of the Independence party, made the principal address:

"The problem of transportation has become the chief commercial concern of this Republic for the last five years. The sober thought of economists has reached the conclusion that land transportation can only be solved by the co-operation of water transportation. The vast railroad problem can best be settled by the development of our inland waterways. The nations which are our chief competitors have realized this and are moving with magnificent energy and liberality to execution. France, no larger than Texas, has quadrupled her internal waterways at an expense of $750,000,000.

German, wisest of nations, has ten thousand miles of inland waterways, and the German policy seems to be to make a highway of every stream that has water enough to fill a canal. One fiftieth of a cent per mile marks the pre-eminence of Germany over other nations, and this advantage, due to the inland waterways, is pushing England and other nations to the last limit for successful competition. China has so wonderful a system of canals that almost every town can ship by water to the sea."

Rev. Smoot Last Evening.

The services last night closed the fifth day of the series of meetings being held at Trinity church. Great good is being done and the church is being spiritually strengthened. A large number stayed for the after meeting and much interest was manifested. Rev. T. A. Smoot, pastor of Grace Methodist church, delivered a strong sermon. Services again tonight at 8 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

Proceeding Dismissed.

The supplementary proceedings brought by W. Scott Harvin against J. B. Farmer before the Clerk of the Superior Court was dismissed by Col. John D. Taylor yesterday. Mr. Farmer was represented by L. Clayton Grant, Esq., and Mr. Harvin by Woodus Kellum, Esq.

KERN'S REPLY TO HEARST

He Speaks of the Absurdity of the Charges.

Fincastle, Va., Oct. 8.—J. W. Kern, after reading the published attack upon him by W. R. Hearst in a recent speech in Los Angeles, Ca., gave out a statement today in which he said that he had repeatedly stated the facts about his employment by the Big Four railroad in connection with certain damage suits, which employment, he said, would be understood by any fair minded man. Concerning his connection with the French Lick Springs Hotel Company, he said that with other counsel he was employed to defend suits involving forfeiture of charter and the appointment of a receiver, and that he and his associates served the corporation as he would have served any other client. Similar service was rendered at the same time to the West Baden Springs Company, with which Thomas Taggart had no connection. As to his nomination, Mr. Kern says:

"It is a well known fact that I did not want the nomination, and so declared at Denver. However, after the convention had given me the nomination by unanimous vote the idea that I would insult the men who had thus honored me by saying that I owed the nomination to Mr. Taggart is so preposterous as to need no denial. My record in all official positions I have ever occupied is open to inspection. I am willing to stand by that record. The street railroad franchise of Indianapolis provides for four cent fares and universal transfers and has resulted in giving Indianapolis the best service of any city in the country."

WARM WIRELETS.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Norfolk and Western in Roanoke, Va., all of the old officers and directors were re-elected. The directors were given authority to purchase the Lynchburg belt line and connecting railway the West Virginia Southwestern, the Pocahontas and Western, the Caretta, and the big Stony railways.

Two men were killed and many persons were injured during the scramble to secure points of vantage from which to view the baseball game yesterday in New York and in the rush into the field when the last New York batter was put out. H. T. McBride, a city fireman lost his life by falling from an elevated railroad pillar outside the grounds and an unidentified man either fell or was pushed off the fence.

Stephen A. Douglas, son and namesake of the great presidential rival of Abraham Lincoln, died suddenly at his Chicago home last night. Yesterday Mr. Douglas with William H. Taft delivered an oration at Galesburg, Illinois, at the fiftieth anniversary of the famous Lincoln and Douglas debate at that place. He had been slightly ill during the day and collapsed soon after dining with his family tonight, dying before the arrival of a physician.

A CONVEYOR OF FOOD OR POISONS

Man Nourished or Poisoned With Equal Facility by This Vital Fluid.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS

Characteristics of the Blood, its Functions and Disorders are Discussed in the Faith of Col. Dillingham's Series of Lectures.

The free lecture and entertainment given by Col. Frank A. Dillingham's excellent company each evening at the corner of Fourth and Castle streets is rapidly becoming the most popular attraction in Wilmington. Throughout the amusement portion of the program the audience was kept in an uproar of laughter and applause last night, and then gave the closest attention to Mr. Alva A. Mills, Col. Dillingham's representative and lecturer, during the delivery of the fifth of the series of popular lectures on health and disease.

The subject of Mr. Mills talk last night was the blood, which according to the speaker, is intended for the purpose of conveying nourishment to every part of the body, but can be quickly transformed into a distributor of deadly poison. Mr. Mills said in part:

"This vital fluid is the means of communication between the organs of the human body. It is composed of corpuscles of two colors, white and red, the latter predominating and establishing the color of blood by their superior numbers. These corpuscles are so small that scientists have estimated that ten million would not cover a space an inch square. In its normal and healthy state it circulates through every part of the body, nourishing and rebuilding the tissues, and when tainted with disease it is equally as successful as a transmitter of these health destroying germs as it is in the former case. Rheumatism, one of the most prevalent and painful of the diseases to which humanity is subject, arises from too large an amount of uric acid in the blood; scrofula, cancer and eczema are the result of impurities in the blood, which must be cleansed before the disease can be eradicated."

Mr. Mills told his audience that Plant Juice was Nature's own remedy for disorders of the blood; that civilized man had at last learned that many remedies which have been used for the purpose of correcting disorders of the blood were worse than the disease, and that these mineral drugs were in themselves the cause of blood poisons of a dangerous nature. In support of the claims made for Plant Juice as a remedy for diseases of the blood Mr. Mills read the following affidavit from Mrs. Belle Southard, of Greensboro, who appeared before the deputy clerk of the Superior Court, Guilford county and made oath to the following facts:

"It gives me great pleasure to make this statement showing the good that Plant Juice has done when all other remedies had failed me. For five years I have been suffering from something like scrofula or hard lumps on my neck the size of an egg. I have taken two bottles of Plant Juice and the lumps are almost gone, and I feel so much better and stronger in every way that I cannot say too much in praise of Plant Juice."

RATIONAL CURE FOR ECZEMA.

No More Dosing the Stomach—Cure the Skin Through the Skin.

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it out and cleanse it and then the skin cures itself. You do not take blood medicine to cure a festered wound.

The best skin specialists today are agreed that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin.

The fact that eczema is a skin disease and not a blood disease is evident from statistics which show that nearly all eczema sufferers are perfectly healthy in all other ways except as to their skin. If the eczema patients were really suffering from an inward malady, the entire body and not only the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the relief of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription.

This liquid attacks the disease germs, numbing them while building up the healthy tissue of the skin. We have now handled this meritorious and thoroughly scientific remedy for so long and have seen its reliable result so many times that we freely express our confidence.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9

THE DEVIL

The Henry W. Savage version. Seats on sale Thursday.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Laurinburg Exchange: A scholarship, valued at $100, has been placed in the hands of the State Bank, by the Horner Military School, of Oxford, N. C. The bank proposes to award the scholarship at once to some boy in our community.

—Wilson, N. C., Oct. 8.—Night riders have made their appearance in Eastern North Carolina. Monday night in Nash county they posted a notice on a cotton gin notifying the owner that if he ginned another bale until the price advanced that the barn would be reduced to ashes.

—Charlotte Chronicle: Mr. W. A. Lomax, after an illness of six weeks caused by ptomaine poisoning, died yesterday at the home of Mr. J. K. Duist, in the county. Mr. Lomax had been on a visit of some time to the family of Mr. Duist and his illness was caused from eating beef.

—Industrial News: A telegram received here last night announced the death at Memorial hospital, Richmond, Va., yesterday evening at 8 o'clock of Mr. Walter D. McAdoo, of this city, who had been a patient there for several weeks. Death was due to a complication of causes and was not unexpected.

—The headquarters of the Peace Congress at Greensboro received a shock last week when it received a letter from a Confederate soldier who said he was in favor of peace, and approved the efforts of the congress. He said further that in the civil war he lost a leg and needed $100 to get a wooden one, and therefore could not respond to the appeal of the Congress that he give $5 toward promoting world peace.

—Concord, Oct. 7.—The largest crowd of the present campaign heard Mr. W. R. Henry at the county court house. Even standing room could not be had. Many Democrats were present. A parade was formed at the Odell Mills and marched from there to the court house. The Forest Hill Band furnished music for the occasion. Mr. W. H. Williams introduced the speaker as "The biggest man in North Carolina, not only physically but politically."

—Spencer, N. C., Oct. 7.—Through Hon. Mike Dooley, chief law agent of the Southern railway, the Southern offered to pay all damages sustained by the citizens of Spencer as a result of the powder magazine explosion here last week. A representative of the railroad made a canvass to ascertain the amount of damages to property after which it was announced that the Southern will pay all just claims as they are presented. Already a number of settlements have been made and others will follow.

—Charlotte Chronicle: Chief Christenbury yesterday morning made his first inspection of the drug stores of the city handling liquors, in accordance with the new ordinance adopted by the Board of Aldermen at a called meeting Saturday night. The chief simply went in and took cognizance of the amount of wet goods on hand, etc., there being no prescriptions to examine as yet, as the new ordinance permitting the filling of prescriptions is just now effective. The inspection of the chief was satisfactory and without incident.

—Newbern Sun: A remarkable shot was made on a deer hunt a few days ago, by our genial townsman, Mr. W. A. McIntosh. Mac was very anxious to be placed where he could see a deer, as he had never shot one. So the boys gave him the best stand. Soon the dogs bore down on him in full cry, running a fine buck, nearly over Mac. During the excitement he banged away. The buck kept on, but out of the top of a tall gum, a squirrel fell, shot through the head with one buckshot. Mac claims he shot at the squirrel.

—Greenwood, S. C., Oct. 7.—Passenger train No. 4 from Augusta, ran into a part of a freight train which had broken loose in the local yards of the C. & W. C. at 7:45 last night. The engine in charge of Engineer Manning crashed entirely through the caboose wrecking it completely. Neither Manning nor fireman was hurt, though two passengers were slightly injured. There was no one in the caboose. The Greenwood fire department was called out to put out the burning caboose. The engine of the passenger train was badly smashed up.

—Lillington, N. C., Oct. 7.—Colonel Harry Skinner, United States District Attorney, spoke here Monday to not more than one hundred and twenty-five people, about one-third Democrats, who went out of curiosity. Col. W. E. Murchison was requested, by a Republican friend, to present Col. Skinner to the audience, which he did gracefully. After Mr. Skinner concluded his speech, Col. Murchison arose, to the discomfiture of the Republicans, and said: "I have known Colonel Skinner when he was a Democrat, he afterwards told me that he was a Republican and when I was asked to introduce him, I did it because I thought it would give him an opportunity to repent of his political sins, but I found him worse than I expected. I have been a Democrat all my life and by the help of God, I expect to die one, all that Col. Skinner said to the contrary notwithstanding." The applause that greeted the remarks of Col. Murchison were louder and more prolonged by far than the applause given Col. Skinner. The speech of Col. Skinner has done no harm. The Republicans of Harnett first nominated D. H. Senter for sheriff. He declined to make the race. They held another convention today and nominated in his place that many times defeated candidate John A. Green, who, on November 3rd, will receive his sixth defeat by the Democracy of Harnett county.

Noah was the founder of indigestion--He forgot to leave the pigs ashore

People in consequence have ever since been victims of lard-cooked food and indigestion. Lard soaked food is not fit for human stomachs because lard is made from greasy, indigestible hog fat, and is bound, sooner or later, to make trouble for your inner machinery.

Cottolene is the only rational, national shortening. It is a pure, vegetable product, and its source (the cotton fields of the Sunny South) is in striking contrast to the source of lard (the pig-sty.)

Cottolene makes food that any stomach can digest—palatable, nutritious and healthful. If American housewives but knew the superiority of Cottolene over lard, both from a practical and health standpoint, lard would never again enter any well-regulated kitchen.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 8.—The cotton market just about lost yesterday's advance during today's trading, the close being steady at a net decline of 4 to 11 points. Sales were estimated at 125,000 bales.

The market opened steady at a decline of 7 to 8 points and quickly increased the loss to a matter of 10 to 12 points under liquidation by recent buyers, Southern selling, and a renewal of local bear pressure. Lower cables than expected reports that yesterday's meeting between masters and operatives in Manchester had not been productive of any favorable results, and increasing uneasiness with reference to the European political situation were the bear factors in connection with continued good weather in the South. There was enough covering to check the decline but only slight rallies occurred and the close was only some 3 to 5 points up from the lowest on the active months. October was relatively firm in the late trading, rallying 7 points from the lowest.

Receipts at the ports today were 54,692 bales, against 39,347 last week and 34,669 last year; for the week 365,000 bales, against 338,122 last week, and 241,529 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans were 10,180 bales, against 4,538 last year, and at Houston 15,849 bales against 4,733 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet 10 points decline; middling uplands 9.05; middling gulf 9.30; sales 250 bales.

Futures opened and closed steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 8.—The trade in brown cottons and converters goods holds very fair and printcloths are being bought more freely. The jobbers are doing a light trade and road orders are small but numerous. Raw silk is firmer. Yarns hold fairly steady with a fair inquiry. Menswear lines and dress goods for spring are very quiet, but a fair spot trade is in progress with cutters and clothiers.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 8.—Arbitrage sales of stocks for London account on the local stock exchange today were estimated at as high as 100,000 shares, which was as much as the total sold previously since the war scare developed in Europe at the beginning of the week. This selling was attributed not only to English holdings of our securities, but to indirect pressure through London from continental centers. Large amounts of United States Steel and Rock Island preferred were sold on what was believed to be orders from Holland. Values were seriously impaired, as shown by the wide decline registered around the low levels. Artificial support of prices which simply affords a profit to this flood of foreign liquidation has few attractions and there was little disposition to practice it today. The weekly statement of the Bank of France showed an increase of gold holdings for the week of nearly 3,000,000 and the Sterling exchange rate advanced at Paris. The Bank of England in fact, made a weak return with a loss of $5,395,000 in bullion holdings. The private discount rate advanced in London. Exchange in New York on Paris and Berlin was lower, in contrast with the strength of Sterlin exchange. Money rates here were not appreciably affected, but the tone of the time money market was called firmer. Weakness in British consols and French rents was not acute, but was distinct and bore out the testimony of other signs. Other influences were practically ignored. It calls for a record that business contracted materially as the hour approached for the baseball game, which was the only rival in interest among the brokers to the "near eastern" question.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value were $3,218,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call Total sales of stocks today were 727,000 shares.

RETIRING BOARD IN STEWART CASE

Hear Evidence of Medical Men as to The Colonel's Condition.

WITNESSES FOR COLONEL

Not Allowed to Testify—Only Doctors Examining Him at Present Declared Competent Witnesses—The Colonel's Contention.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Oct. 8.—For almost four hours today Colonel F. Stewart, of the army, struggled but in vain with the retiring board before which he has been ordered to obtain permission to summon witnesses to prove that he is not incapacitated for army service and that, therefore, he should not be arbitrarily retired.

After the verbal testimony of Colonel W. H. Arthur and Major Guy L. Edie, of the Medical Corps, who are members of the retiring board, Colonel Stewart preferred his request for the summoning of other witnesses. He gave the name of thirteen witnesses whom he desired to have called and when he failed to obtain the board's permission his attorney announced that the Colonel himself would take the stand in support of his plea that he is capable of performing the duties of a Colonel in the Coast Artillery.

When the board convened, J. W. Latimer counsel for Colonel Stewart, proceeded to cross question Colonel Arthur and Major Edie regarding their report as the medical experts of the board on the condition of Colonel Stewart's health. Both stated that Colonel Stewart is afflicted with heart disease to such an extent that any over-exertion might result disastrously to him. The fact was brought out that Colonel Stewart has been a victim of heart disease for the past 35 years and reference was made to a document on file in the War Department showing that as early as 1877 he had requested to be excused from participation in an Indian expedition because of an affliction of the heart and rheumatism. Both of the medical experts refused to make statements bearing upon Colonel Stewart's previous condition. Both surgeons said that so long as Colonel Stewart's present condition continued he would be fairly comfortable, but would depend upon the exertion he might be subjected to.

After the army surgeons had left the stand Mr. Latimer asked permission to show by the records that during the past twenty-five years the Colonel had been almost continuously on duty. Recorder Howland said that he was willing to admit that Colonel Stewart had performed all the duties assigned to him and had very seldom requested leave of absence. He made the point that no showing of the kind contemplated could have any bearing upon the patient's present condition of health, and the board sustained his objection.

Colonel Stewart's attorney presented a list of thirteen witnesses, all but one of whom are fellow officers, medicals and otherwise, of the Colonel and he asked to have all of them summoned. The board separately refused the requests except one, the exception being Dr. Sprigg, a civilian physician residing in this city, who yesterday made an examination of Colonel Stewart's heart. In Dr. Sprigg's case the board announced its willingness to hear him in case he should voluntarily appear, but it was stated that he would not be summoned by the board. Two of the witnesses whom Colonel Stewart asked to have ordered to Washington were Lieutenant R. M. Barton, of the fifth cavalry, and Chaplain Chase, of the same regiment, both of whom took horseback rides with Colonel Stewart last September. Mr. Latimer said that both would testify that his client had shown no ill-effect from these rides.

Mr. Latimer made a request that Colonel Stewart should be permitted to make the ninety mile ride required by the military authorities and to follow it with the walk which is required as an alternate for the ride. but the request was denied.

The board will meet again tomorrow.

THE FIGHT ON CANNON

The Federation of Labor's Vigorous Effort to Defeat Him.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Labor is preparing a final and determined onslaught on the candidacy of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon. The political action committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor made plans to send a number of labor leaders into "Uncle Joe's" district next week.

During the last three weeks of the campaign there will be nearly fifty labor speakers in Danville, Kankakee and vicinity. Two organizers for the American Federation of Labor are in the district now making speeches for the Democratic candidate for Speaker Cannon's seat in the House of Representatives. Among those to be sent by the Chicago Federation of Labor will be Secretary E. N. Nockels and John C. Harding, secretary of the Typographical Union.

BRYAN RESUMES HIS WARFARE

After Temporary Suspense He Begins The Campaign With Renewed Vigor.

ROOSEVELT IS ASSAILED

For His Untimely Interference in the Campaign—Charged That President Has Violated the Civil Service Law.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Having temporarily bridged the political chasm which separated them, and shaken hands with his Republican opponent, William J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for President, today again sallied forth and resumed his warfare. Not only Mr. Taft but President Roosevelt came in for a severe verbal castigation at his hands. This afternoon he roade out to Evanston, a distance of 15 miles, in an automobile, and there addressed several thousand students of Northwestern University and citizens of the city, and tonight journeyed to Chicago heights, where he spoke to a gathering of laboring men. He will leave in the morning for a tour through Illinois and Missouri.

Mr. Bryan charged in his speech at the Northwestern University that the Republican leaders were not going in the direction that the people of the Republican party wanted to go. In rejecting the publicity of campaign funds before election, he said, the Republican leaders of the convention had in June last betrayed the rank and file of their own party and misrepresented the voters of the country. Mr. Taft, he said, had repudiated that action, but had gone only half way and favored publicity of campaign contributions after election. He attacked Mr. Taft's position on the tariff, trusts and labor questions.

Once again he flayed President Roosevelt for interfering, as he said, in the campaign. The vigorousness with which he spoke aroused the crowd to cheers. The President, he charged, had violated both the spirit and the letter of every civil service law by intimidating the several hundred thousand office holders. I have no corporation behind me," he declared. "I have had no rich relatives to furnish money for the campaign. I had but one thing to rely upon and that was my advocacy of things that I believe and that my party believe. I have made my fight and I stand as the representative of millions of people who believe as I do, and I say to the President that he should stand as I do and let his man and me fight it out before the American people." Continuing, Mr. Bryan said that he believed the President's interference, "violated a sense of justice that can be found in every human heart, and I have a right to criticise this use of the Presidency." The Democratic candidate declared that long before his hearers ever heard his name, he was endeavoring to get an amendment to the constitution that would make the President ineligible for re-election. "I have said in three campaigns," he continued, "that if elected I would not be a candidate for re-election. I believe that when a man occupies that office and holds in his hand the people's power, he ought not be tempted to use it for his own ambition. If I am elected, I want to tear from my heart every selfish ambition and for four years give to my country whatever ability I have that I may work to make this again a Government in which the people rule and under which every citizen shall draw from society a reward proportionate to the service he renders his fellow man."

NATIONAL BANK DISTRICTS

To be Formed For the Purpose of Grouping the Examiners.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Oct. 8.—Comptroller of the Currency Murray announced today that he had decided to put into immediate action a plan for the formation of eleven districts of national bank examiners, with a chairman who will preside over quarterly meetings of all the examiners in each of the districts, and in intervals between such meetings will keep in touch with the examiners of other districts. From the reports from examiners these chairmen will compile reports to the comptroller designed to furnish in detail a list of the lines of over-extended large loans and heavy borrowers, and in general all of the questionable or doubtful paper which comes to the attention of the examiners. The co-operation of the districts with the clearing house associations of the locality also is a contemplated feature.

District three with headquarters at Philadelphia and with Examiner Frank L. Norris in charge, will include Philadelphia, Maryland, Eastern Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia with seven examiners.

District five with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn., and with Examiner S. H. Cooper in charge will include, Tennessee, South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Kentucky with six examiners.

DEEP WATERWAYS MEETING GOING ON

W. J. Bryan Spoke Earnesly in Favor of Lakes to Gulf Project.

LETTER FROM MR. J. J. HILL

John Temple Graves Made The Principal Address Last Night—Splendid Representation of Delegates in Attendance.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Addresses by William Jennings Bryan and Glifford Pinchot, the latter being chairman of the National Conservation Commission, the reading of a letter from J. J. Hill, short addresses by delegates, and a big reception at the Coliseum tonight, were the features of the second day of the convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways Association.

Mr. Bryan who spoke earnestly in favor of deep waterways not only from the Lakes to the Gulf, but in all other parts of the country, where increased transportation facilities were needed was an enthusiastically received as was William H. Taft when he opened convention yesterday.

Resolutions adopted commented upon the exceptionally strong arguments of Mr. Hill and Mr. Pinchot. A stockholders meeting of the Northern Pacific Railroad kept Mr. Hill from attending the convention and his letter was read by Congressman Rainey, of Illinois.

Congressman William Lorimer, of Illinois, traced the development of waterways in Illinois, and congratulated the convention on the large number of States represented at the meeting.

Bryan Speaks on Waterways.

In addressing the convention today Mr. Bryan said in part:

"You cannot give the people too good facilities for the transportation of their merchandise. If you tell me you want to improve the Mississippi I tell you that is all right I will help you improve it just as far as you please and make the canal as wide as you please and as deep as you please, and when you get to improving the Mississippi I will start out all alone if necessary to improve every river that empties into the Mississippi. Water transportation is the natural transportation. God made the rivers, man made the railroads. When you finish a river sufficiently deep for commerce or a canal upon which boats can float you make it possible for a man with small capital to act while the railroads make it possible for men with large capital to act. Where there is a river any man who can build a boat can engage in the transportation, and if he cannot build a big boat he can build a little boat, and if you have a large number of little boats the big boat will have to meet the rate the little boat fixes. You will find it much easier to regulate rates on water than land because competition can be much more active on water than on land. We are an exporting nation. We send our agricultural products to foreign markets, and when our wheat or our cotton reaches the London market, its price is fixed there by the competition which it meets. If a bushel of wheat sells for a dollar in London and it takes fifty cents to get it from the farm to the London market the farmer gets fifty cents a bushel for his wheat. If you can so imporve transportation that the farmer can get his wheat from his farm to Liverpool for 25 cents you have added 25 cents to the farmers price for his wheat. It is a fact that it is admitted that the railroad cannot carry freight as cheaply as the boat can, and therefore every farmer is interested in establishing water communication wherever water communication is possible.

"I believe in improving the waterways everywhere, no matter whether these waterways are the rivers that run down the mountains sides into the ocean and the west or the waterways that converge in the Mississippi valley and carry their floods to the gulf. I believe that it is the duty of those charged with the business of Government to develop those things upon which a nation's prosperity depends.

"If the work should be done and I believe that it should, then you people who believe it should be done, should agree upon the best methods by which to do it. But I repeat that you must not be frightened because it may require an investment. At St. Louis last Fall they resolved that $500,000,000 spent in improving the waterways of the Mississippi valley would bring an interest in the way of decreased cost of transportation amounting to $180,000,000 a year. Why, my friends, if it only saved $50,000,000 a year it would be 10 per cent. interest on the investment.

"I believe that the plan should be commenced now. I believe that it should be a comprehensive plan, that it should deal with the entire subject and that it should be a permanent plan; that we should begin now to lay the foundation for the future greatness of this country in the development of these natural resources, these God-given water courses of ours."

Mr. Hill's Letter.

Mr. Hill in his letter declares that the assertion that the railroad interests are hostile to the development of the country's waterways is one of many cheap slanders by which a political campaign against railroad interests has been prompted in the past. Said he in part:

"I am glad to emphasize right here the fact that the relations of rail and water transportation is one of harmony, helpfulness and co-operation."

Mr. Hill cited the failure of certain waterways as competitors of rail lines, and said that up to this time, the river has been unable to compete with the railroad notwithstanding its lower charges, because of the rapidity and certainty with which the latter carries and delivers freight. He continued:

"I have for years been urging that the building up a transportation machine commensurate with the growth of the country should not only be permitted but encouraged in the only two possible ways. First, by encouraging capital to invest in railroad construction, instead of scaring it away by hostile and unjust legislation, and second, by a comprehensive and rational system of waterway system. There is no other way now, nor will there ever be by which the business
